Crimson Court

Top-notch volleyball, a driving band and a raucous crowd all make Crimson Court one of the finest volleyball-only facilities in the nation.

It has become one of the most intimidating competition venues in the country with intimate seating for 1,500 to 2,000 spectators. In fact, in the last six seasons, Utah has racked up a 74-10 (.881) home record and has tallied a 38-5 (.884) home mark in conference matches.

After a comprehensive renovation project, the court was officially dedicated on Sept. 9, 1994. It was christened by both a win over Montana State and a marathon five-game victory over San Jose State in the Utah Classic.

The largest crowd ever recorded at Crimson Court assembled on Nov. 4, 2005, when unranked Utah delivered a 3-0 upset to No. 12 Brigham Young in front of 1,591 fans.

It was in the 2001 season that Utah set the single-season attendance record. The Utes hosted 12,020 fans over the course of 15 games, averaging 801 fans per game.

The fan-friendly Crimson Court is considered one of the finest facilities in the Mountain West Conference — a league that has quickly earned a reputation as one of the strongest in the country. Not only has it been a launching pad for the Utes' eight consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances, but Crimson Court has also played host to the tournament. It entertained opening-round action in 2001 and again in 2005.

The Friendly Confines...

Nov. 4, 2005 - Unranked Utah upended No. 12 Brigham Young, 3-0, in front of a record crowd of 1,591 fans. The Utes held one of the most potent offenses in the nation to a mere .172 hitting as they raced their home winning streak out to 12 matches.

Sept. 17, 2004 - The unranked Utes fought tooth and nail to upset the No. 6-ranked UCLA Bruins in five games. Connie Dangerfield led the defense and set the conference record for digs in a match (33).

Aug. 31, 2002 - No. 13 Utah edged past No. 12 Pacific, 3-2, to claim the Utah classic title. It extended Utah's home winning streak to 20 games. The streak wouldn't end until the Utes won 29 straight at Crimson Court.

Nov. 3, 2001 - No. 15 Utah downed No. 6-ranked Colorado State in ending the Rams' 20-match winning streak, 3-2. It was CSU's first (and only) conference loss as Utah went on to finish 10-2 in league action.

Nov. 30, 2001 - The Utes host the first and second rounds of the NCAA tournament and beat Utah State, 3-1, in the second round to advance to the Sweet 16 for the first time in school history.

Sept. 5, 2000 - Utah erases a 2-0 deficit to topple the No. 1-ranked Stanford Cardinal. The Utes set the school record for assists in a match (93) and tied the mark for kills in a match (97).

Sept. 22, 1995 - The Utes snapped an 18-game losing streak to in-state rival BYU with a 3-0 home victory over the Cougars. It was only the Utes' second-ever win over BYU and it was head coach Beth Launiere's first.

Athlete Development

Utah volleyball players benefit from the 7,500-square-foot, state-of-the-art weight room located in the Dee Glen Smith Center. The workout facility boasts 12 Olympic platforms, each with its own self-contained power rack/ multi-purpose lifting station.

There are five strength and conditioning coaches on staff to ensure that each and every student-athlete is performing at their peak. The program is under the direction of Doug Elisaia while the Ute volleyball team works directly with Annette Poulton, assistant director of strength and conditioning.

Burks, the head team physician for the University of Utah athletics department, has been its orthopedic surgeon since 1998. Dr. Joy, a former collegiate athlete herself (she lettered in volleyball and track at Minnesota), is in her 10th year as Utah's team physician.

The Utes also utilize Dr. Maria Newton, a sport psychologist. Newton has been with the university for seven years. She teaches sport psychology and sociology classes and is also a consultant with a number of athletes in a variety of sports in the Salt Lake City area.

The Utes' nutritional care is under the charge of sports nutrition consultant Claudia Wilson, now in her ninth year with the volleyball team. Wilson, MS, RD, who is also a clinical dietician for the University of Utah Nutrition Clinic, specializes in sports nutrition, female athlete triad disorders and eating disorders. She is a member of the American Dietetics Association and Sports and Cardiovascular and Wellness Nutritionists (SCAN), an ADA practice group.

The daily physical care of the Utes is handled by the sports medicine staff. Lisa Feldermann enters her second season as the team's athletic trainer. She comes to Utah after graduating from Rowan University in New Jersey with a degree in athletic training in 2005. The Vernon, N.J., native is currently working on her masters in sports psychology at the U.

The entire sports medicine staff is overseen by director Bill Bean and associate director Deb Willardson. They both have more than 25 years of experience at the University of Utah. The other three full-time assistants on staff in the sports medicine department are Tom Iriye, Trevor Jameson and Bob Toth.

Academic Support

As an academic institution, the University of Utah enjoys a richly deserved reputation for excellence in education.

The Utah athletics department works to ensure that each of its student-athletes takes advantage of the academic opportunities offered. With three full-time athletic academic advisors, the U. provides specialized academic counseling for its student-athletes.

The U. employs three full-time academic advisers for its student-athletes. The department is under the direction of director of athletic-academic services JoAnn Hulbert-Eagan, winner of 2002 Perlman Award for Excellence in Student Counseling. Hulbert-Eagan is in her fifth year on the athletics staff and 12th at the U. Her department also consists of assistant director Rob Rainey, who works with volleyball, in his 14th year, and adviser Rachel Lassiter, in her first year.

The Ute academic team monitors the studies of each student-athlete to ensure he or she is making progress toward a degree. The academic advisors also dispense their knowledge of departmental and University requirements, and assist with course registration and the exploration and selection of majors.

The student in student-athlete got a big boost in spring 2001 when the Kenneth P. Burbidge Jr. Family Athletics Academic Center opened on the U. campus.

Designed solely to accommodate the U.'s varsity student-athletes, the Burbidge Center is without peer in terms of aesthetics, technology and academic service.

The 11,000 square foot facility is already a campus landmark, with its sweeping floor to ceiling, curved glass wall on the two-story north side. Its location is ideal for the population it serves: Situated between the U. Natatorium and the Huntsman Center, the Burbidge Center is central to Utah's classrooms and athletic venues.

The full-service academic facility, utilized by all 18 varsity Utah athletic teams, was underwritten by a generous $2 million gift from the Kenneth P. Burbidge Jr. family. The center consolidated Utah's athletic-academic efforts, both in terms of computer labs and study space, and academic counseling. The upper level also provides a social gathering place for the student-athletes.

The mission of the Burbidge Family Athletics Academic Center is to provide an integrated learning environment that will enhance the academic and personal development of all student-athletes. The objective is to accommodate the diverse needs and schedules of Utah's student-athletes through a wide range of individual and group support services, computer technologies and independent study opportunities.

Director of Student-Athlete Support Services Mary Bowman, Director of Athletic Relations Manny Hendrix and Academic Services are housed in the building, as is the award winning NCAA CHAMPS/Life Skills program.

Campus Life

University of Utah students live in a magnificent mountain setting in Heritage Commons—a living-learning community of 3,500 students that opened in 2000.

Heritage Commons received world-wide acclaim in 2002 when it served as the Athletes Village during the XIX Olympic Winter and Paralympic Games, hosted by Salt Lake City. The residential center is the heart of campus activity and exudes a vibrant, energetic "college town" atmosphere.

Game and exercise rooms, computer labs, Internet connections in every room, and a dining room that is open all day and serves up freshly cooked meals on request are some of the reasons behind the School of the Year award delivered by the Intermountain Affiliate of College and University Residence Halls. Residence hall students also thrive academically at Utah: More than half of them maintain a GPA of 3.0 or higher.

Situated in historic Fort Douglas at the mouth of Red Butte Canyon and located on 70 acres of land, the expansive 912,000 square foot residential complex boasts picturesque views of Salt Lake City and the surrounding mountain ranges. Heritage Commons consists of 21 buildings–20 residential and one for dining and support services. Eight of the buildings are apartment style, with 235 one-, two- and three-bedroom apartments.

First-year students live in Gateway Heights, a hall with furnished, double semi-suites, an advanced telecommunications system (voice, video and data), an ethernet connection to the U. student computer system, cable TV connections, a large community lounge, study rooms and indoor bike storage. Each floor has a kitchenette.

Chapel Glen is home to both first-year students and upperclassmen and offers the same amenities as Gateway Heights, along with a fitness area. Sage Point is reserved for upper division students and has single, double and deluxe suites. Sage Point also has computer and technology labs and an international area.

Benchmark Plaza is an apartment complex allocated for single students who have earned 60-plus credit hours. Shoreline Ridge, which offers both furnished and unfurnished apartment units, is reserved for students with families and single graduate students.

The Chase N. Peterson Heritage Center, open 24 hours a day, seven days a week during peak demand periods, is the hub of activity in the student housing village. It contains a central dining facility that seats 600, a convenience store, computer and technology labs, fitness and game rooms, four multipurpose rooms, a mail center and more. The student "village" also contains a University Bookstore branch, University Copy Center and the University Guest House, an on-campus hotel.

Transportation is another benefit of Heritage Commons. A U of U parking permit allows residents to park close to their hall, but a car is not necessary. Free campus shuttles run every 10 minutes and the Utah Transit Authority and light rail (TRAX), free to U. students, combine to traverse 21 routes to and from campus. TRAX extends to downtown Salt Lake and outlying areas as well. The residence halls are also easily accessible to main campus by foot and are connected via the George S. Eccles 2002 Legacy Bridge.

Heritage Commons

About the University

The University of Utah, a hub for higher education from the Rockies to the Sierras, boasts an academic reputation that is rivaled only by its breathtaking location.

To the east rise the 11,500 foot, snow-capped peaks of the Wasatch Mountains. To the west the Great Salt Lake shimmers beneath the Oquirrh Mountains. The 1,500-acre campus, nestled in the foothills of the Wasatch Mountains, is a beautiful collage of native and exotic trees, fountains, flowering malls and pedestrian walkways.

The University of Utah is one of only 88 universities in the United States classified by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching as a Research I university—defined by its full range of undergraduate programs, a commitment to graduate education and a high priority to research. Utah is categorized as RU/VH (Very High Research Activity) by the Carnegie Foundation.

The U. also offers a lively residential living experience in beautiful Heritage Commons, a multi-purpose residence complex located in historic Fort Douglas on the eastern edge of campus. Opened in 2000, Heritage Commons served as the Athletes Village for the 2002 Olympic Winter Games. Approximately 3,500 students live on campus in residence halls and apartments. The Princeton Review ranked the University of Utah No. 1 for learning environment in 2005 (based on a survey of students).

Outside the classroom, Utah students enjoy unparalleled outdoor diversions, from skiing and snowboarding at any of eight world-class resorts in nearby canyons, to backpacking, mountain biking, fly fishing and river running.

The U.'s location in the largest city in the Intermountain West also provides a metropolitan charm. The 36th largest metro area in the nation (population 1,333,914), Salt Lake is home to professional symphony, ballet, modern dance, opera and theater companies, as well as five professional sports teams.

The University offers 77 majors, 80 minors and certificates, and 95 graduate majors. It draws its 29,000-plus student population from all 50 states and more than 100 foreign countries.

Founded in 1850, the U. has established itself as an international center for medical and engineering research. Research Park, which is located on 320 acres adjacent to the campus, includes the Huntsman Cancer Institute, the Howard Hughes Medical Institute, the Eccles Institute of Human Genetics and the Moran Eye Center. More genes with diseases have been identified by researchers at the University of Utah than any other place in the world.

One of the top 50 universities in the nation in federal research grants, the U. received $295 million in grants and contracts in 2004-05. The School of Medicine received over $145.9 million in research grants and awards for the development of new technologies, treatments and cures. Patents brought in $16 million.

Utah is also a hub in the computer world. The Center for High Performance Computing links the U. to major aerospace industries, high-tech manufacturers and research companies. It manages one of the three most successful technology parks in the U.S., with more than 40 high-tech companies created by University faculty. The U. has had a presence on the Internet since 1970, when it became the Internet's fourth node.

The University of Utah has the only medical, social work, architecture and pharmacy schools in a multi-state area. Its many top-flight facilities include a center for dance, a health sciences center, public radio and television stations, three libraries and numerous centers and laboratories devoted to research.

Salt Lake City

Salt Lake City, home to the University of Utah, combines the amenities of a major metropolitan area with beautiful natural surroundings.

With 181,743 residents, Salt Lake City is the largest city in the state and its metro population of 1,333,914 ranks 36th in the nation. However, Salt Lake City maintains the charm of a small western city. Scenery, location, and cultural and recreational opportunities help Salt Lake draw major events like the 2002 Winter Olympic Games.

One of the most beautiful metropolitan areas in the world, Salt Lake City offers majestic views in all directions. To the east are the 11,500-foot peaks of the Wasatch Mountains ("mountains of many waters," as named by the Paiute Indians), which are part of the Rocky Mountain range. To the west soar the Oquirrh Mountains (pronounced Oaker and meaning "the shining mountains"). In between is the Great Salt Lake—which at a size of 48 miles wide and 90 miles long—ranks as the world's second largest saltwater lake and the largest lake in the western United States.

Its unique geography is just one of Salt Lake City's many impressive elements. Salt Lake City boasts the nation's highest literacy rate, highest percentage of high school graduates and highest-percentage of college-educated people.

National and international business magazines have described Salt Lake City's economy as "visionary, vibrant and vigorous." City and State, which is published for local government officials, ranked Salt Lake No. 1 among 195 cities in terms of economic strength. Salt Lake is the financial, educational, distribution, warehousing, commercial, cultural and communications hub of the Intermountain region. It is the center to world-renowned medical and technological industries.

Tourism is also a huge economic boon to the state, with the travel and tourism-related industries providing 112,000 jobs. In 2005, 17.5 million visitors traveled to Utah and spent almost $5 billion. Eight world-class ski resorts are located less than 40 miles from downtown Salt Lake.

Cultural and ethnic activities flourish in Salt Lake City. Downtown is home to art galleries, professional symphony, opera, theater and dance. It is a stopover for numerous Broadway shows, as well as ethnic festivals throughout the year. Some of the annual cultural events are the Blues Festival, Greek Festival, Hispanic Fiesta Days, Bluegrass Festival and Living Traditions Festival.

Professional sports are big in Salt Lake City and include the Utah Jazz of the NBA and the Utah Blaze of the Arena Football League. Other pro franchises in the city are the Salt Lake Bees (AAA baseball), the Utah Grizzlies (hockey) and Real Salt Lake (Major League Soccer).

Recreational opportunities abound and 10 national parks are a day's drive from Salt Lake City. Fly fishing, backpacking, mountain biking and river running are a part of life in Salt Lake City. With four distinct seasons, a humidity average of 15 percent and mostly sunny days, Salt Lake City offers pleasant weather conditions year round.

Salt Lake City's charms are easily accessible even to those from out of state. Salt Lake International Airport is situated within a two and a half-hour flight of half of the United States' population. There are over 800 scheduled daily flights serving more than 100 cities with non-stop flights. The airport is located just 15 minutes from the University of Utah.

Sommerfeldt finished sixth all-time in kills (1,245) and third all-time in attempts (3,336). She is also in the 120-match club, having played in 122 matches during her career as a Ute spiker.

In 2001, Utah defeated Texas Tech and Utah State at Crimson Court in the first and second rounds of the NCAA Tournament to secure its first-ever Sweet 16 appearance.

In the NCAA's

The University of Utah is no stranger to the NCAA Tournament. Over the last several years, the Utes have become a fixture at the NCAA Tournament and have developed a rich history of success in that short span.

The team has participated in the NCAA Tournament each of the last eight years, advancing to the second round six of the eight times. The 2001 team went 2-1 in the tournament but concluded the season with a loss in the Sweet 16 to eventual national champion Stanford.

The Utes qualified for the NCAA Tournament for the first time in 1998 and advanced to the second round in each of their first three appearances.

In 1998, Utah defeated ninth-seeded Illinois State but lost to top-seeded Nebraska in four games in the second round. In 1999, Utah, seeded No. 9 in the Mountain Region, defeated No. 8 Colorado in three games and lost to top-seeded Hawaii in three games in the second round. The trip in 2000 saw the Utes seeded No. 8 in the West Region, defeating Texas Tech, 3-2, in the first round. The team then lost to Hawaii, 3-0, in the second round.

The team's Sweet 16 appearance in 2001 was the first time in Utah volleyball history that a team had advanced to regionals. The Utes topped Texas Tech, 3-0, and Utah State, 3-1, on Crimson Court and advanced to the Regional Semifinal in Palo Alto, Calif. Utah fell to host Stanford, 3-1, in the Utes' first-ever Sweet 16 showing.

Utah entered the 2002 tournament riding high as it ended the regular season with an impressive four-game win over then-No. 12 Arizona. The Utes were placed in the same region as No. 1-ranked USC, but ended up losing to Texas A&M in the first round.

Down 0-2 to No. 13 Santa Clara in 2003 in the first round, Utah rallied for a thrilling five-game victory. The following night, the Utes fell in three games to host Washington.

The Utes received an at-large bid in 2004, playing in the first and second rounds on the campus of UCLA. The Utes drew Long Beach State in the first round and dropped the match, 3-0.

Utah not only won the league's automatic bid in 2005, but it also won the right to host first and second rounds. Utah State and No. 6 Arizona descended upon Crimson Court as did Utah's opening-round opponent, Loyola Marymount. The Utes downed LMU, 3-0, before falling to eventual Elite Eight participant Arizona in round two.

"Every year we play a nationally-competitive schedule to prepare for the NCAA Tournament," Head Coach Beth Launiere says. "Our goal is to continue to go to the NCAA Tournament year in and year out."

Quoting Head Coach Beth Launiere over the last eight Years:

1998 - "I'm really excited. It's just a great feeling -- something you work so hard for the whole year. I'm pleased for the program and the players who came before this group. There have been a lot of people who worked a lot of hard hours to get us to this point."

1999 - "I'm so happy for our team because we really exceeded our expectations. We've gotten really good leadership from our captains and this is a group of kids with great attitudes. It seemed like every match somebody different stepped up."

2000 - "It's funny how things have changed for our program. We used to be happy just to get a bid to the tournament and now we're playing for the seed. We felt like we put ourselves in the position to have a better seed than we got. I'm really surprised especially since we've done so well in the tournament the last two years."

2001 - "I'm really excited for our program. Hosting the NCAAs will give us a better chance of making it to the Sweet 16. We've never hosted before in the history of Utah volleyball and it's going to be great."

2002 - "We are happy to be in the NCAA Tournament - there are a lot of teams that aren't. USC is close enough for family and friends to go, so hopefully we'll get some fan support, which is really important in the NCAAs."

2003 - "I'm really happy with our draw. Seattle is a really fun town and it's close, so family can go. If there's anything we learned from last year, it's that wherever you get sent, you go and enjoy the fact that you're playing in the national tournament, the big dance."

2004 - "I think that our bracket features very good teams. All four of them are very similar and I think that is going to make these first and second rounds in L.A. very unique."

2005 - "It's very rewarding to make it into the NCAAs and it's awesome that it's going to be at Crimson Court. It's very exciting to see the University of Utah get this bid to host. We're in a competitive bracket and there is going to be some exciting volleyball."

Not only do Utah volleyball players face some of the top collegiate players in the country, but many get the chance to square-off against some of the top international talent as well.

In the summer of 2006, Airial Salvo represented the United States as a member of the US National Volleyball A2 team. At the Open Championships in New Orleans, Salvo led her team to the championship match and capped it off with all-tournament honors.

Many Utes also went overseas last summer to compete in the Global Challenge. While sophomore setter Shannon Krug battled South America's best in Argentina, many of the Utes went to Maribor, Slovenia, and competed against teams from Italy, Hungary, the Czech Republic, Slovenia and other teams from southwestern Europe.

Airial Salvo was named College MVP, Emillie Toone was named Best Blocker and Sydney Anderson was junior all-tournament at the Global Challenge in Maribor, Slovenia, last summer.

2006 Season Outlook

The 2006 University of Utah volleyball team may not have a senior on its squad but it certainly doesn't lack the experience or tools it needs to accomplish its goals.

The Utes return five starters from the 2005 team that won the Mountain West Conference tournament title and advanced to the NCAA Tournament second round.

"Without seniors on this team, it's important that we have strong leadership from our underclass players on and off the court," 16-year veteran head coach Beth Launiere said. "That was something we focused on during the offseason and I believe that our leadership developed nicely last spring."

In addition to leadership, fundamentals were also a focal point for the Utes as they enter the 2006 campaign.

Blocking was one of the team's strengths in 2005 as Utah's 3.61 blocks per game were the third-best average in the nation. And, Launiere contends that it will still be the foundation of another solid defensive team.

But, the entire game isn't defense and the Utes enter 2006 after getting back to basics and working on the fundamentals of the game.

"I was very happy to see that our team's skills got a lot better in the offseason," said Launiere. "We weren't able to work on many individual things in the fall so that was something we focused on and improved upon in the spring.

"We had to get better at passing, serving and sideout offense in the spring," said Launiere.

While those areas improved, it was the off-the-court efforts that Launiere saw the biggest strides.

"Our physical strength was our biggest improvement," Launiere said. "Playing a tough non-conference schedule, in addition to conference play, we have to be a strong team that can endure the entire season."

Valuable experience and a solid foundation are what the Utes will have in 2006. And, with that on their side, the team will set out to accomplish its goals.

"Our team is one cohesive unit," Launiere remarked. "All of us enter the season on the same page and are ready to accomplish our mission of winning the Mountain West and going further in the NCAA Tournament than we ever have before."

What's Back and Who Returns in 2006:

Kills (1,320/1,860)	71%
Airial Salvo	397 (3.36/g)
Assists (1,541/1,690)	91%
Shannon Krug	1,423 (11.76/g)
Digs (1,008/1,782)	57%
Airial Salvo	292 (2.47/g)
Aces (85/163)	52%
Airial Salvo	29 (0.25/g)
Blocks (346/443.5)	78%
Emillie Toone	182 (1.64/g)

Outside Hitters -

Utah's top returning hitter is sophomore Airial Salvo. In 2005, the freshman was able to step in and contribute right away. She played in all 32 matches and was second on the team in both kills (3.36 per game) and digs (2.47).

On the heels of MWC and West Region Freshman of the Year honors, she will be a predominant figure in 2006.

"Airial's role increased as the season went on last year," said Launiere. "She will have a bigger role this year and I know she's ready for it."

Junior Whitney Webb had a breakout sophomore campaign in 2005, earning a starting role around the time conference season rolled around. She quickly became a key player for Utah, adding a competitive fire into the lineup.

One of the best right-side blockers in the conference, Webb chalked up 2.16 kills last year, hitting .261 and nearly averaging one block per game.

Kate Robison will return to outside hitter after spending a portion of the 2005 season at libero and defensive specialist.

Robison was third on the team with 2.29 digs last year but refocused on playing outside this past spring. She showed some of the biggest improvements on the team during the offseason and will vie for time on the court this fall.

Kathryn Lovell gained a lot experience as a freshman last year. One of the top options off the bench in 2005, Lovell was able to gain big-match experience in her rookie year.

A dynamic attacker with a live arm, Lovell worked on passing and defense in the offseason and has become a better all-around player.

Hilary Taylor joins the Utes after two seasons at Western Wyoming CC. Taylor is a talented outside that brings a lot of potential to the lineup.

In addition to the five outsides on the roster, sophomore middle blocker Lori Baird also trained at outside hitter last spring.

Middle Blockers -

There's no doubt that the successful block from last season stemmed from its middle blockers, Emillie Toone and Baird. The duo bring complimentary styles to the position that make it a versatile part of the rotation.

A 6-7 junior, Toone stands as one of top blockers in the country. Last year, she jammed offenses to the tune of 1.64 blocks per game, the eighth-best average in the country. She also adds offense to the lineup, as she averaged 1.99 kills per game and hit a team-best .310.

"Emillie allows us to have an intimidating presence in the middle," said Launiere. "She possesses the ability to shut down opposing hitters and make them change what they are doing."

Meanwhile, Baird added another 1.34 blocks per game in 2005 but she also tallied 2.54 kills on .287 hitting.

"Lori is one of the most offensive middles we've had in this program," said Launiere. "Her ability to hit different sets and at different

Baird also trained at outside hitter during the offseason. Practicing on the outside allowed her more swings and improved her passing, making her a better all-around player. It also means she could hit some sets at the antenna this season.

In addition to Toone and Baird, Chelsey Sandberg will also add depth at middle blocker. An exciting and dynamic athlete, she is relatively young to the game of volleyball but brings quickness and athleticism to the middle.

Setters -

The setters may be young but that certainly won't be a factor as the Utes boast two of the best setters in the country.

"Every good program needs two solid setters." Launiere noted. "Anytime you have great competition in the practice gym, it will bring out the best in everyone."

Sophomore Shannon Krug returns to set the attack while the athletic freshman Sydney Anderson will also challenge for time.

Krug stepped in as a freshman last year and took over as the No. 1 setter. As a result, she set an attack that hit .237 in chalking up 11.76 assists per game.

Her ability to assimilate to the college game led to a lot of the successes in 2005 and her experience in running the offense is an added benefit to a young 2006 squad.

The 6-0 setter has played internationally with her IVA/High Performance team and was a four-time all-state player at Alta High School (Utah).

Defensive Specialist/Libero -

Experience is the name of the game for Utah in the back row.

Not only did libero Lacey Lavarias gain valuable experience in 2005, but the position is bolstered by the return of the 2004 MWC Libero of the Year, Connie Dangerfield.

"We're excited to have Connie back," Launiere said. "It took a while for her to get back into game form. But, she played all spring and is 100 percent ready to go."

Dangerfield sat out the 2005 season due to injury. She finished the 2004 campaign as the league's top libero, guiding Utah from the back with 4.17 digs per game. She tallied 467 digs that season which stands as Utah's single-season record.

Dangerfield has stepped up as a team leader in the spring and adds stability to the team's defense.

Lavarias will prove a capable backup to Dangerfield. She appeared in 13 matches last year and made tremendous improvements during the offseason. The 5-8 sophomore gained strength and improved her defense and passing.

Freshman Stephanie Hodgman is a solid passer with good ball control and will add depth to the back row.

Schedule -

The Utes play a hefty schedule that includes three teams that finished 2005 in the top 25 and another seven teams that made it to the 2005 NCAA Tournament.

"We play a strong schedule as usual," said Launiere. "We play some prominent teams on the road which helps us prepare for league and tournament play.

"But, we also have some strong teams coming to Crimson Court too. Missouri State, Temple and Utah State are strong programs in each of their regions and will provide good home competition for us."

The season begins Aug. 25 at the Aquafina Invitational in Gainesville, Fla. Utah will play Arkansas State (Aug, 25) and Florida (Aug. 26). Florida finished 2005 the No. 3-ranked team in the nation.

Other top non-conference opponents include North Carolina (in Los Angeles on Sept. 1), USC (in Los Angeles on Sept. 2), Utah State (in Salt Lake City on Sept. 8) and Missouri State (in Salt Lake City on Sept. 9)

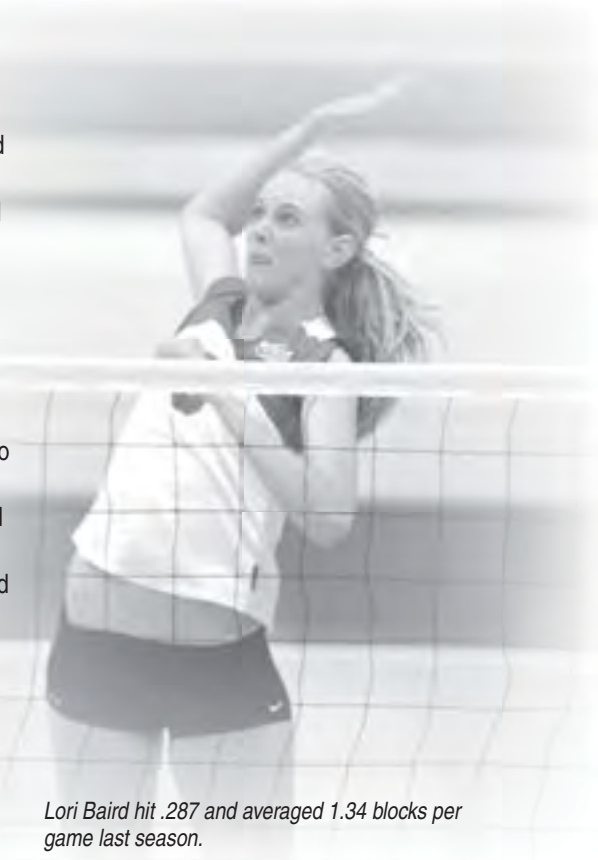
The home schedule begins on Sept. 8 with the four-team, six-match Utah Classic. Conference play launches soon after with the Utes hosting Colorado State and Air Force on Sept. 15 and 16, respectively.

"I believe the Mountain West Conference is going to be very competitive this year," said Launiere. "I think we'll be competing with BYU and CSU for the championship as well as UNLV.

"Everyone in our conference continues to improve and that's what makes the Mountain West a stronger and deeper conference than ever before, in my opinion."

Other home conference matches of note are UNLV (Oct. 22) and in-state rival BYU (Oct. 27).

The MWC Tournament is from Nov. 23-25 and will be held at Las Vegas. The NCAA Tournament starts on Nov. 30.



Lori Baird hit .287 and averaged 1.34 blocks per game last season.

Beth Launiere

Head Coach • 17th Season • Career Record: 322-187

Competitive, hard-working and dedicated all describe veteran head coach Beth Launiere as she has built the University of Utah volleyball team from ground up, making it one of the premiere programs in the conference and in the nation.

Launiere (322-187, .633) took over in 1990, looking to straighten out a team that won only one match in all of 1989. And, in her 16 years, she sculpted the Utes into a top-25 power.

Her last eight teams have qualified for the NCAA Tournament as her squads have also won four Mountain West Conference titles. She has recorded ten straight 20-win seasons (11 overall) and the Utah volleyball trophy case has swelled during Launiere's years. In addition to four MWC titles, that trophy case holds Regional and MWC Coach of the Year plaques honoring Launiere's efforts.

Her ability to attract top-notch talent hasn't gone unnoticed either. She guided three Utes to All-America honors (including third-team selection Kim Turner) and has seen another 33 garner all-conference accolades. Meanwhile, the 2005 freshman class was ranked the eighth-best in the nation according to Volleyball Magazine. Many of her players, like Kelsie Kartchner and Airial Salvo, have represented Utah internationally in various US Olympic development programs.

Launiere's impact on the sport goes well beyond the court. Since 2004, she has guided volleyball on the national stage as a member of the AVCA Board of Directors. Her tenure as the Division I Coaches Volleyball Representative is a three-year appointment. Prior to that, Launiere served on the AVCA's All-America committee for five years.

On the court in 2005, Launiere guided a youthful team to a 23-9 mark and to its sixth NCAA second-round appearance. Along the way, her team upset No. 17 and eventual Final Four participant Santa Clara and No. 12/21 BYU. Her Utes rallied to capture the MWC Tournament title. With the league's automatic NCAA bid came the honor of hosting first- and second-round tournament matches. Utah topped Loyola Marymount in the first round but fell to No. 6 Arizona in second. The Utes finished the year ranked No. 25 in the final coaches poll.

Among the milestones attained in 2005 were Launiere's 300th career victory and Shelly Sommerfeldt's 1,000th kill. Launiere topped the 300-win plateau with a 3-0 season-opening victory over Idaho State on Aug. 26.

Sommerfeldt finished her career with Honorable Mention All-America laurels while newcomer Salvo claimed West Region and MWC Freshman of the Year honors. Both were also named all-conference while another two Ute Spikers landed on the All-MWC Tournament team.

The 2004 season was one of the most successful seasons in program annals. The Utes climbed to as high as No. 14 in the polls, upsetting No. 6 UCLA, 3-2, and No. 7 Colorado State, 3-1. Utah went 24-7 that year and 13-1 in MWC play. The 13 victories were the most league wins in a season and netted the Utes their first regular-season title in school history. Moreover, her team also rattled off a school-record 12 straight wins.

Launiere won MWC Coach of the Year while three spikers were all-conference picks. Lyndsey Henderson garnered Honorable Mention All-America accolades while Connie Dangerfield won MWC Libero of the Year laurels.

In 2003, the Utes went 22-9 and 12-2 in loop play. The Utes were ranked No. 25 nationally in the final poll after advancing to the second round of the NCAA Tournament.

Turner ended her Utah career an All-American in 2003 and as the school's all-time leader in kills, total blocks, block assists and hitting percentage.

An MWC preseason favorite in 2002, Utah climbed as high as No. 8 during the season, marking the first time it had cracked the Top 10 in school history. Though the team finished third in the MWC standings, Utah went 3-0 in the MWC Tourney to claim its second straight conference tournament title and fifth NCAA bid.

During the 2001 season, Launiere led Utah to its first league tournament title and its maiden trip to the NCAA Sweet 16. As a result, she was named 2001 Tachikara/AVCA

Head Coach Beth Launiere

Division I West Region Coach of the Year. The Utes (25-7) set the school mark for winning percentage (.781). Utah was a perfect 15-0 at Crimson Court, posting the first undefeated home season in school history.

It's fourth-consecutive NCAA Tournament bid led to the Sweet 16 as the tourney came to Salt Lake City. The No. 14-seeded Utes, defeated Texas Tech in the first round, 3-0, and knocked off Utah State, 3-1, for their first-ever second round win. The Utes lost in the regional semifinal, 3-1, to eventual champion Stanford. Utah was the only team in the tournament to win a game versus the Cardinal as the Utes finished No. 15 in the final coaches poll.

The 23-8 finish in 2000 was buoyed by a 3-2 win over No. 1-ranked Stanford at Crimson Court. That was program's first-ever win over a No. 1-ranked opponent. In winning the two ensuing matches after Stanford, Utah earned its first-ever national ranking. The Utes were No. 18 in the USA Today/AVCA Top 25 poll released on Sept. 11. Launiere recorded her 200th career victory at the MWC Tournament, a 3-1 win over UNLV on Nov. 16. The team finished No. 20 in the final poll after defeating Colorado in the first round of the NCAA's.

The Utes tallied 20 wins in 1999, going 22-10 overall and 10-4 in the debut season of the MWC. Utah advanced to the second round of the NCAA's for the second consecutive year.

The string of eight straight NCAA showings began in 1998 as the Utes made it to the second round in their first-ever NCAA Tournament appearance. Utah posted a 21-10 record, playing nine teams that made the NCAA Tournament.

In 1997, Launiere's Utes went 22-9. In a season full of highlights, the Utes tied the longest winning streak in school annals with 11 straight wins. Utah also equaled its best start to the WAC season, winning its first three matches and going 5-2 through the first half of the league schedule.

Launiere achieved her 100th win in 1996 with a 3-0 win over Utah State on Sept. 20. The Utes went 20-12 overall on the season and amassed the most wins ever as a WAC member with a 10-6 record. It marked Launiere's first winning season in conference play and set the stage for 10 consecutive winning records in league action.

The 1995 Utes' 7-7 WAC mark included in a 3-0 start to the conference season. A 3-0 shutout of No. 16 Brigham Young marked Utah's first defeat of a nationally-ranked opponent in a decade.

To fully appreciate what Launiere has accomplished, one must reflect on where she began. The season prior to Launiere's arrival, Utah compiled a 1-32 record. In her first season, Launiere coached the Utes to six more wins than were recorded the previous year, and instilled a new competitive attitude in the program. The instantaneous improvement enabled Launiere to elevate the level of play and bring excitement and fan support back to Utah volleyball.

Launiere's second season saw Utah more than double its wins (15-20) and in her third season, she won 18 games. The 18-15 tally was the first winning season in seven years.

The 1993 Utes were 25-11, placing fourth in the WAC. Utah earned its first postseason berth, placing third in the NIVC. Both the Utes as a team, and senior Mikki Kane-Barton, led the nation in blocks, a first for any WAC team.

In 1994, Launiere won her 81st career match at Utah to become the winningest coach in school history. The Utes were invited to participate in the NIVC for a second-consecutive year, but declined the invitation.

The all-time top six in kills are all Launiere's pupils, led by Turner (2000-03), Brenda Barton-Whicker (1994-97), Sara Shakula (1995-98), McKelle Stilson (1998-2001), Sharman Grant (1991-94) and Sommerfeldt (2002-05).

Barton-Whicker is tops in attempts, aces and digs, Graciela Torres-Lopez (1996-99) is the all-time assists leader while Linda Byington (1990-91) is second all-time in hitting.

Nine of the all-time top-10 blockers in school annals are products of Launiere's system. Turner, Stilson and Kane-Barton (1992-93) all finished their careers among the elite blockers in school history.

In 2003, Turner was the first-ever Ute to be named an AVCA All-American (third-team) while Barton-Whicker was the first in school history to be an AVCA All-District VII pick 1995.

Launiere went international in the summer of 1996, taking the USA All-Star Team on a two-week tour of England. The team, consisting of 14-17 year-old girls, was sponsored by the USA Volleyball Youth Developmental Program.

Prior to coming to Utah, the Grand Rapids, Mich., native was as an assistant coach at Illinois (1988-89). It went 57-12 during Launiere's stay and made it to two NCAA Tournaments, including a 1988 Final Four showing.

An assistant at Ferris State (Mich.) from 1985-87, Launiere helped the Bulldogs win three postseason bids and to a showing in the 1987 NCAA Division II Final Four.

Launiere graduated in 1985 from Aquinas College (Mich.). She earned a bachelor's degree in business administration and economics and has a master's in sports administration from Illinois.

The 43-year-old Launiere is the fifth coach in the 31-year history of Utah volleyball and has a tenure longer than any of her predecessors.

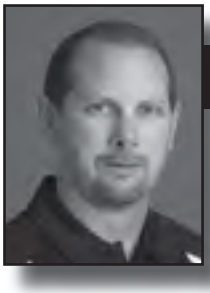
Assistant Coaches



Burt Fuller

Assistant Coach • First Season

Burt Fuller joins the University of Utah volleyball coaching staff after completing a successful stint as head coach at Utah State. Fuller, who spent the last five seasons as the Aggies' head coach, brings a wealth of success and knowledge to Utah as he begins his first season as an assistant coach.

"I am excited to have Burt join the Utah volleyball staff," remarked Launiere. "Our team has high goals in the Mountain West Conference and the nation, and the quality of my coaching staff needs to reflect these goals. I have a tremendous amount of respect for Burt's achievements at Utah State over the last five years and his experience, success and expertise at this level were the reasons I pursued him for the position."

In addition to his collegiate coaching experiences, Fuller coached the IVA High Performance team at the 2006 Global Challenge in July. The international tournament was in Maribor, Slovenia.

While at Utah State, Fuller led his team to two NCAA Tournament appearances and guided his Aggies to an 82-70 mark. He chalked up two 20-win seasons in coaching two All-Americans (Erin Cartwright-Davis and Zuzana Cernianska) and 10 all-league selections.

The Aggies turned in a 21-13 record in 2005, finishing second in the Western Athletic Conference. They also took second in the WAC Tournament and earned their second NCAA Tournament berth under Fuller.

Their other NCAA Tourney showing came in Fuller's first year at the helm. In 2001, the team recorded a 20-11 mark and went 12-6 in Big West play. Not only did the Aggies make it to the NCAA post-season, but he led his Aggies to a 3-2 win over No. 19-ranked Brigham Young in the first round. The 2001 squad finished its campaign ranked No. 21 in the final coaches poll. Fuller coached five all-league honorees that year, the most on one team in USU history.

Prior to Utah State, Fuller was a long-time assistant at national power UCLA. In his seven seasons in Westwood, Calif., the Bruins went to the NCAA Tournament six times. They finished second in 1994 and made two Elite Eight appearances. His 2000 team finished No. 7 in the country. While at UCLA, he helped coach 23 All-PAC 10 selections and five All-Americans.

Fuller's first head coaching job was with Los Angeles Pierce Junior College where he coached the women's team in 1992 and 1993. He was also an assistant on the men's team as well, helping them to a state title in 1992 and a runner-up finish in 1994. He also has stints as an assistant at Fresno State (1989) and Chico State (1985).

Other coaching endeavors for Fuller include: two years at Los Altos (Calif.) Atheletics Director Dr. Chris Hill

Dr. Chris Hill, Utah's director of athletics and special assistant to the president of the University of Utah, has carried Utah athletics into national prominence.

Hill was just 37 years old when he was named director of athletics back in October of 1987. Since 1998, he has also been a special assistant to the U. president and a member of the University's senior administrative cabinet.

On a national level, Hill currently serves on the prestigious NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Committee. It is the latest of several NCAA committee positions for the highly-respected director of athletics. He was the NCAA-appointed chairman of the Championships/Competition Cabinet from 1997-98 and a member of the NCAA Management Council—serving on its administrative committee. He served on the executive committee of the National Association of Collegiate Athletics Directors (NACDA) from 2002-06.

But Hill's biggest strides have come on campus, where his tenure has been charged with capital improvements, an emphasis on student-athlete support, academics, and winning programs. In 2002, Utah was named one the top 20 athletics programs in the nation by U.S.News & World Report, based on winning percentage, graduation rate, number of sports and gender equity.

Hill is the driving force behind Utah's athletics success and its numerous national-caliber facilities. His fund-raising efforts reached an international stage when the $50 million Rice-Eccles Stadium hosted the Opening and Closing Ceremonies for the 2002 Salt Lake Olympic Winter Games. (See inset for a complete list of facilities built during his term.)

On the playing field, Utah is a conference and national power under Hill's leadership. Two of the many highlights were the men's basketball team playing in the 1998 NCAA Championship game and the Utah football team breaking into the BCS and winning the Fiesta Bowl on Jan. 1, 2005. Utah has also captured multiple national championships in gymnastics and skiing since he became director of athletics.

Hill positioned himself for the top athletics job after two years as the director of development for the Crimson Club. The New Jersey native first came to the U. as a graduate assistant basketball coach (1973-74) under Bill Foster. He was an assistant under Jerry Pimm from 1979-81.

Between his coaching and administrative stints with Utah athletics, Hill was executive director of United Cerebral Palsy of Utah (1981-85), where he raised $750,000 in federal, state and private funding for a housing project for people with severe physical disabilities.

Among his many accolades was becoming the first-ever recipient of the Mountain West Conference's Commissioner's Award in 2004. Other honors include a 1981 Milton Bennion Fellowship, 1984 Utah Recreation Therapy Association Outstanding Service award and 1996 Utah MS Sportsperson of the Year award. He was a 1998 Inductee into the Jersey Shore Hall of Fame. Hill currently serves on the Regence BlueCross BlueShield Board of Directors. In 2001, the National Consortium for Academics and Sports gave him its Degree Completion and Outreach and Community Service Honor Award.

As an undergraduate, Hill lettered three years and was co-captain of the 1971-72 Rutgers basketball team. His bachelor's degree from Rutgers is in math education (1972). He also has a master's in education (Utah, 1974), and a Ph.D. in educational administration (Utah, 1982). Hill taught in the University's special education department from 1983-85. He coached boys basketball at Granger High (Utah) from 1975-79, winning 4A coach of the year his first year.

Hill, 56, is married to the former Kathy Cronin, a faculty member in the U. department of special education. They have two children, Aly and Christopher, and a granddaughter Addie Rose. Aly played soccer for the University of Oregon and received her master's of social work degree from Utah in 2002. She now teaches children with severe disabilities in the Salt Lake school district. Christopher graduated with a bachelor's degree in organizational communication from Utah in 2004. He will attend law school in the fall.

2005 Recap

A careful balance of youth and experience led the 2005 University of Utah volleyball team to record yet another top-25 finish.

The team finished the season 23-9 overall and took third in the Mountain West Conference, going 11-5 during the regular season. The Utes claimed their third MWC Tournament title, downing No. 21-ranked Brigham Young in the championship bout, 3-1.

The Utes made their eighth straight NCAA Tournament appearance, hosting first- and second-round matches on Crimson Court. Utah beat Loyola Marymount, 3-0, in the first match but saw its year end against No. 6 Arizona in the second round, 3-1.

The Utes got the season off to a 2-2 start, dropping two early matches to nationally-ranked Missouri and Tennessee.

But, as freshmen starters Lori Baird, Shannon Krug and Airial Salvo blended with the trio of veterans (Danielle Leichliter, Shelly Sommerfeldt and Emillie Toone) Utah's fortunes would start to turn. The Utes went on to win seven of their next eight, including a 3-2 victory over eventual Final Four participant and then-No. 17 Santa Clara.

The team entered conference play 8-3 overall and would begin league play with five of its first six matches on the road.

Utah went 3-3 in its first six league matches but rallied to finish the regular season 8-2. Among the final 10 matches was a 3-0 home court win over No. 12-ranked BYU in front of a school-record 1,591 spectators.

The Crimson and White entered the MWC Tournament as the No. 3 seed but entered it scorching hot as it won nine out 10 games in claiming the tourney title. In Utah's wake were Wyoming (3-0), Colorado State (3-0) and No. 21 BYU (3-1).

Utah's Salvo, Sommerfeldt, Toone and Shannon Krug were each named all-tournament while Sommerfeldt garnered tourney MVP honors.

The team finished 2005 one of the best blocking teams in the nation. The team's 3.61 blocks per game ranked third in the nation while Toone's 1.64 blocks per game ranked eighth in the NCAA.

Along the way, head Coach Beth Launiere captured her 300th career victory while senior outside hitter Sommerfeldt knocked down her 1,000th career kill.

Launiere, Utah's all-time winningest coach, passed the 300-win milestone in the season-opener. She guided her Utes to a 3-0 win over Idaho State at Crimson Court.

Sommerfeldt tallied her 1,000th career kill on Sept. 28 at Brigham Young. She finished the match with a team-best 16 kills, tallying her 1,000th early in the fourth game. Sommerfeldt finished her career with 1,245 kills, the sixth-most in school annals.

Sommerfeldt proved to be one of the top attackers in the conference and earned all-conference honers for her efforts. In addition, Sommerfeldt earned AVCA Honorable Mention All-America honors.

Sommerfeldt wasn't the only Ute honored. Salvo was named all-conference in addition to MWC and West Region Freshman of the Year. Her 3.36 kills per game led all MWC freshman in 2005.

From its inception in 1999, the Mountain West Conference has been committed to excellence in intercollegiate athletics, while promoting the academic missions of its member institutions. Progressive in its approach, the MWC continues to cultivate opportunities for student-athletes to compete at the highest level, while fostering academic achievement and sportsmanship. Now in its eighth year, the MWC has been assertive in its involvement with the NCAA governance structure and has taken a leadership role in the overall administration of intercollegiate athletics.

Some of the most beautiful terrain in the nation can be found within Mountain West Conference boundaries, including the Rocky Mountain range, which borders four MWC schools (Utah, BYU, Air Force and Colorado State). The high plains of Wyoming (at 7,220 feet it's the highest Division I campus in the nation) contrast with the desert city of Las Vegas (the fastest growing metropolitan area in the West) and the Pacific Ocean locale of San Diego State. The southwestern flavor of New Mexico complements the western heritage and culture of Fort Worth, Texas, home of TCU.

The Mountain West Conference was conceived on May 26, 1998, when the presidents of eight institutions — Air Force, BYU, Colorado State, New Mexico, San Diego State, UNLV, Utah and Wyoming — decided to form a new NCAA Division I-A intercollegiate athletic conference.

The split from the former 16-team conference re-established continuity and stability among the membership within the new league and signaled the continuation of its tradition-rich, long-standing athletic rivalries. Five of the MWC's eight original members have been conference rivals since the 1960s (BYU, Utah, New Mexico, Wyoming, Colorado State), while San Diego State (1978) and Air Force (1980) were longtime members as well. UNLV entered the fold in 1996 and TCU began its first year of competition in 2005-06, completing the membership in the MWC as it stands today.

A new era begins in the fall of 2006 as College Sports Television (CSTV) becomes the official television partner for the Conference. The MWC forged a potential 14-year agreement with CSTV, giving the fastest-growing independent cable network exclusive rights to Mountain West Conference football and men's basketball, plus coverage for all other MWC sports. With a "fans first" focus, CSTV has assured that MWC constituents will see more MWC sports at more convenient times and in more media platforms than ever before.

The agreement incorporates all Conference-related media and marketing rights, including all television, national over-the-air and satellite radio, video-on-demand, and online and broadband rights. The multi-media partnership also includes The mtn., the first-ever regional sports network dedicated solely to an intercollegiate athletic conference.

The MWC has remained steadfast in its mission to promote the league's athletic events to national and regional television audiences. ESPN served as the league's inaugural official television partner, while in-house productions guaranteed coverage for several MWC Olympic sports. Through the league's first seven years, excluding institutional local packages, 778 football, volleyball, men's basketball and women's basketball events have aired on television, with 142 football games and over 115 men's basketball contests broadcast nationally. The MWC is the only conference to have televised all contests from its volleyball and women's basketball championships five of the past six years, while baseball, softball and women's soccer have had selected games from their respective championships televised in that span.

MountainWest Sports Network

This fall, all the bumps, sets, and spikes throughout the Mountain West Conference are on CSTV - the 24-hour college sports network from CBS Sports and The mtn. ("The mountain")– the brand new network offering more Mountain West sports than ever before. CSTV and The mtn. are the only places to find live Mountain West games from nearly 20 men's and women's sports, studio shows, and press conferences on-air.

And online, both CSTV and The mtn. also feature the latest news, scores, and highlights 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

To get CSTV and The mtn., call your cable or satellite provider, or log on to CSTV.com for more information.
